Glastonbury
Abbey
Institute

2023 – 2024

About the Glastonbury Abbey Institute:

The Institute is an extension of the rich Benedictine monastic teaching tradition found at Glastonbury Abbey. As a spiritual resource for lifelong learning, we invite all people from diverse interfaith and cultural traditions to explore and deepen human ways of knowing and being.

Please Note:

This year there is a mix of virtual, in person, and hybrid (both virtual and in person) programs. All retreats are in person. For all other programs please refer to the specific event.

If a program is a series you only have to register once. All programs will begin at 7:00 pm unless otherwise noted.

The Institute is self-supporting. Donations of any amount are deeply appreciated and will help us cover the cost of our programs. Suggested donation is $20 per person.

Special Event

Listening to Phoebe: A Conversation in the Spirit

In Person

Facilitator: Carol Stanton – Monday, September 11: 9:30 am – 2:00 pm $20 - Lunch is included.

What does a 1st century Christian woman have to say to a 21st century church?

As it turns out, quite a bit. Especially now, during this time of Synod, which has opened up a respectful and prayerful listening space within the Church for conversations on all kinds of topics. In the world-wide reports of synodal listening sessions it became clear that the issue of women in ministry, especially the prospect of women deacons, was a global concern. Catholics around the earth, facing enormous pastoral needs, want to talk about the possibility.

Phoebe comes to us in just a few lines in Paul's letter to the Romans. He names her as a local church deacon, a co-worker and his emissary to the church in Rome. Personal details about who Phoebe was remain largely hidden but her social context, the state of the earliest Christian communities and Paul's theology offer new/old insights for today's church.

Listening to the Word of God and to Community is central to the Benedictine tradition. Listening as part of a "conversation in the Spirit" is at the heart of the Synod process.

Join the conversation!

Carol Stanton holds an MA in Religious Education from St. Louis University and an MPhil in Ecumenics and PhD in Public Theology from Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland. Carol has worked in the Diocese of Orlando, Florida since 1971, in the office of Family Religious Education, as Diocesan Director of Communications and Director of the Lay Ministry Formation Program. She also spent 8 years as a TV News Anchor/Reporter at the ABC & NBC affiliates in Orlando. Carol and her husband John are both Oblates at Glastonbury Abbey.

Spiritual Enrichment Programs

Wednesdays with Regina Boisclair – A Study of the Bible

In Person

Regina Boisclair, PhD – Wednesdays, 10:30 – 11:50

You must register for each series.

Suggested donation is $50 for each series.

Five 4-session topics: September, November, January, March, May

These sessions are in person only and focus on the sacred authors' intent and not designed to discuss individual insights. Each course is independent although participants will notice that they build on understandings gained in the process. There will be suggested assignments from the Bible for the second through fourth sessions.

September 6, 13, 20, 27 – Bible Basics

An overview of the sacred texts as understood by Christians and Jews and ways of interpretation. Details will be supplemented reading examples from the various forms of literature including the Bible.

November 1, 8, 15, 22 – The Old Testament in the New

A consideration of a selection of Old Testament passages in the New Testament that early Christians used to understand Jesus and his significance.

January 10, 17, 24, 31 – The Gospel of the Gospels

Traces the earliest understanding of what Christians mean by gospel and how various levels of traditions developed into written stories

March 6, 13, 20, 27 – The First Five Books

Explores the content of the Torah (Pentateuch) and considers how the master story of Israel informs the master story of Christianity.

May 1, 8, 15, 22 – Paul and Pauline Literature

After contrasting Luke's portrayal of Paul with Paul's self-description, this course will overview the undisputed letters and show why we believe others wrote some Pauline letters.

Dr. Regina Boisclair holds graduate degrees in biblical studies, theology and religion from Providence College, Yale Divinity School, the Ecole Biblique in Jerusalem and a doctorate in New Testament from Temple University. She taught at Merrimack College, Temple University, University of San Diego and Alaska Pacific University. She is an Oblate of Incarnation Monastery in Berkeley, CA, lives in Hingham, MA, and worships at Glastonbury Abbey.

Social Justice, The Church's Best Kept Secret

Series of three talks.

Virtual

Father Thomas Massaro, S.J. – Tuesdays: September 12, 19, 26

The Church's social teaching is a rich treasure of wisdom about building a just society and living lives of holiness amidst the challenges of modern society. In these three sessions, Fr. Massaro will highlight and reflect on several of the key principles and themes that are at the heart of our Catholic social tradition.

September 12: Foundational Themes of Catholic Social Teaching

The careful balancing act between recognizing the dignity of individuals and the common good, including the implications of both human rights and solidarity for such social institutions as government, family, property and labor.

September 19: Additional Themes of Catholic Social Teaching

The church's perspective upon peace, fair economic development, the natural environment and the option for the poor.

September 26: The Renewal of Catholic Social Teaching in the Age of Pope Francis

How Francis updates this message of social concern, especially for refugees, economic inequality and family life.

Father Massaro is Professor of Moral Theology at Fordham University. He also served at Weston Jesuit School of Theology in Cambridge, at Boston College, and at Jesuit School of Theology of Santa Clara University, where he also served as Dean. His nine books and over one hundred published articles are devoted to Catholic social teaching.

He served on the Peace Commission of the City of Cambridge and is co-founder and steering committee member of Catholic Scholars for Worker Justice.

Commonweal Conversations

Virtual

Moderator: Maggie Olson – Mondays

October 2, November 6, December 4, 2023

January 8, February 5, March 4, April 22, 2024

Commonweal Conversations is a program promoting thoughtful, expansive, intelligent dialogue on issues that matter – whether political, theological, cultural, or artistic. We encourage all participants to offer their opinions respectfully while also generously considering opinions that do not match their own. We learn by listening to others. All conversations will be virtual. Please register for each date separately and you will receive articles to read when you register.

I Believe; Help My Unbelief

Virtual

Father Timothy Joyce, OSB - Mondays

October 16, November 20, December 11, 2023

January 22, February 12, March 11, April 8, 2024

A series of monthly conversations about faith, doubt, and belief. These will be open discussions starting with reviewing an article or two given out for reading ahead of time. All are welcome: Catholics, former Catholics, non-Catholics, Nones, or just the curious. Only goodwill and openness to share and listen are needed.

Father Timothy is a monk of Glastonbury Abbey since 1976. He holds an advanced degree in systematic theology from the Gregorian University in Rome. He is a licensed theologian, lecturer, spiritual director, and writer – including a bi-weekly blog, “Monastic Scribe,” and all are on our website.

The Constantinian Revolution Hybrid (In Person/virtual)

*Fr. Nicholas Morcone, OSB - Tuesdays
October 17, 24, 31, 2023*

It can be argued that other than Jesus himself and Saint Paul, no other single person has had such influence on the development of Christianity than the Roman Emperor, Constantine the Great. These three presentations will examine the background to Constantine’s life and career, his rise to power, his political and religious policies and their long term effects for the Christian churches.

Father Nicholas is a life-long student of history. He was Abbot of the Glastonbury community from 1986-2008. He is now Master of Liturgical Ceremonies, leads retreats, and gives spiritual direction.

THE SYNOD: Reform, Renewal, and...Courage Virtual

Sister Maureen Sullivan, OP – Tuesdays: November 14, 2023, and January, 16 and April 9, 2024

Synodality has emerged as a key theme of Pope Francis’ pontificate. He made the teachings of Vatican II the starting point for synodal discussions, hoping to implement the reforms of the Council and instill them into the practices of the contemporary Church. This series will examine three of the central Synod themes: the role of women, the laity, and the understanding of Church rooted in the teachings of Vatican II.

November 14, 2023: Women in the Church

Many Catholics are unaware that, in the midst of over 2500 bishops, there were only 23 women at Vatican II. In this presentation, we will examine the theological journey of women in the Church which made it possible for them to have a presence at the upcoming Synod.

January 16, 2024: The Laity Find Their Voice in the Church

Before the Second Vatican Council, the laity was not perceived as having a ministry of their own in the Church. Rather, any work they did for the Church was seen as “assisting” the hierarchy in their mission. Vatican II changed that and gave the laity a voice, based on their baptismal dignity. This presentation will discuss the journey of the layperson in the Church, culminating with the Synod’s contribution to that journey.

April 9, 2024: The Church Then And Now

The prevailing model of Church before Vatican II was referred to as the pyramid model, with the pope, bishop, and clerics having the authority in the Church and the laity as the recipients of that authority. Vatican II retrieved the New Testament model of Church in which all the baptized have gifts of the Holy Spirit which are given for the purpose of building, serving, and leading Christ’s Church.

Sr. Maureen Sullivan, a Dominican Sister of Hope from New York, received her M.A. in theology from Manhattan College and her PhD. from Fordham University. She is Professor Emerita of Theology at St. Anselm College, New Hampshire.

Lenten Supper Talks – Revisiting the Sacraments

In Person

*Tuesdays: February 20, February 27, March 5, March 12, March 19, 2024
Presented by the Monks at Glastonbury Abbey*

Easter Triduum

In Person

Fr. Nicholas Morcone, OSB – March 28, 29, 30: 9:30 am

Holy Thursday, Good Friday and the easter Vigil make up the Easter Triduum. The three liturgies tell the story that stands at the core of the Christian faith. They celebrate the abiding significance of these sacred events in the lives of people today. This series of reflections will help people understand and participate in these liturgies.

Liturgy After Vatican II: Already, Not Yet and Not Quite

Virtual

Julie Upton, RSM – Tuesdays

April 16, 23, 30

On December 3, 1963, more than 60 years ago, the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy, the first document of Vatican Council II was published. Since that time most of the way we worship and celebrate the sacraments has changed – deepened, matured. It has shaped and reshaped our spirituality and even led us toward being a synodal church. We celebrate what has already changed, can often be frustrated by the “not yet” and too often unaware of the “not quite.” Marcel Proust said “the real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new landscapes, but in having new eyes.” Looking back sixty years can give us new eyes.

Dr. Julie Upton, a Sister of Mercy, has a PhD in Theology from Fordham University and is Provost Emerita and retired Distinguished Professor in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies at St. John University (NY), where she taught for 40 years.

Adult Education Programs

The Artist’s Way

In Person

Kay Trask, M.Ed – Tuesdays, September 19 – December 5, 2023

In addition to the weekly meetings, the program requires four hours per week to accomplish the required activities.

The book, The Artist’s Way, is required and will be available at the Abbey bookstore or on Amazon.

Kay Trask has been involved with this program at the Abbey for several years. Kay is a retired educator who spent most of her career of 40+ years in higher education helping college students strengthen their academic skills.

Cultivating Hope in Difficult Days

Virtual

John Pavlovitz – Tuesday, January 23, 2024

Empathy is the heart of being human and being a person of faith. Compassionate people are profoundly affected by the suffering of others and compelled to be agents of healing. This is a beautiful and invaluable instinct, but it comes at a cost to your own physical, emotional, and spiritual grieving well-being. When you step into dangerous spaces to work for diversity and justice, or simply to hold others in the depths of difficult emotions, the trauma takes its toll. Join John Pavlovitz in an honest conversation about the wounds of the world, and the wounds we sustain attending to them

John Pavlovitz is a writer, pastor, activist, and storyteller from Wake Forest, NC. Over the past decade his thought-provoking blog, Stuff That Needs to Be Said, has reached a diverse worldwide audience. John is committed to equality, diversity, and justice – both inside and outside faith communities. His books include A Bigger Table, Stuff That Needs to Be Said, and If God is Love, Don't Be a Jerk.

Oblates of Glastonbury Abbey

Oblates are men and women from many Christian denominations who seek to deepen their spiritual journey through a process of prayer, study and reflection in community with like-minded individuals. They are lay people, religious, married and single who have chosen to follow the time-honored Benedictine method of spirituality as set forth by St. Benedict 1,500 years ago and modeled throughout the world by numerous religious orders. An Oblate learns to incorporate his or her prayer life with work, family and community. Oblates become associated with Glastonbury Abbey, but continue to worship in and strengthen their own churches and parishes.

Glastonbury Oblates meet on the first Tuesday of each month beginning with Compline in the Abbey Church at 7:15 PM. For more information, please go to our website:
